St Lawrence College: a caring community of kindness, positivity and respect

Introduction

What is Careers?

"It is about young people finding purpose, discovering what matters to them, their place in the world, the point of studying and getting up in the morning. Sometimes people think careers is just information about options and planning for the future. It's so much more. It can give hope, meaning, purpose, self-esteem and the ability to navigate the challenges of life." Lianne Hambly

Aim

The aim of the careers programme at St Lawrence College is aligned to the aims and values of the school as a whole:

- It recognises that a genuinely holistic education is required to thrive in the 21st Century;
- It focuses on developing the attributes required including positivity, flexibility and teamwork and a solution focused approach to problems;
- It enhances students' understanding of their potential to make a difference in the world.

Rationale

Careers education and guidance programmes make a major contribution to preparing young people for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of life. At St Lawrence College, a planned progressive programme of activities supports students throughout their time at school to develop an awareness of employability skills and understanding of opportunities in the working world that suit their interests and abilities and help them to follow a sustainable career path.

Careers education at St Lawrence College is embedded within the ethos of the school as a whole, which aims to unlock both personal and academic potential in our learners and helps them develop career aspirations and discovery of future pathways.

Commitment

St Lawrence College is committed to providing a programme of careers education, information, advice and guidance to all students from First Form to Upper Sixth that is impartial and confidential and includes access to independent external sources of guidance and inspiration. We are fully committed to ensuring full access to CEIAG and the best for all students. The programme is delivered through events both whole school and bespoke; lessons delivered through PHSE; a programme of careers talks, and unlimited 1:1 guidance meetings. The whole school approach to careers ensures that it is fully embedded within the curriculum and throughout the pastoral system.

Background Information: Statutory Duty and Definition of Terms

The Department for Education 'Careers guidance and inspiration in schools' publication (July 2021) provides statutory guidance for governing bodies, school leaders and school staff.

There is a statutory duty that requires governing bodies to ensure that all registered students at the school are provided with independent careers advice from the first year of secondary school to the last year of sixth form.

The governing body must ensure that the independent careers guidance provided:

- is presented in an impartial manner;
- includes information on the range of education or training options, including apprenticeships and other vocational pathways;

- is guidance that the person giving it considers will promote the best interests of the students to whom it is given.

Independent is defined as external to the school. External sources of careers guidance and inspiration could include employer visits, mentoring, website, and telephone and helpline access. Taken together, these external sources would include information on the range of education and training options, including apprenticeships.

Impartial is defined as showing no bias or favouritism towards a particular education or work option.

Advice and guidance refer to a coherent programme of activities that inform, inspire and motivate young people, preparing them for work and helping them to understand where different education and training choices could take them in the future.

CDI Framework for Careers Education Employability and Enterprise Education

Key Staff in CEIAG policy/programme delivery

SLT Line Manager for Careers	Kirsten Parker
Head of Careers/Careers Leader	Michele Semlyen
Head of PSHE	Georgina Owen
Link Governor	Ellis Gill
AEN Lead	Samantha Moulson-Porte

The Head of Careers, who is also the identified Careers Leader, has responsibility for organising CEIAG in school, liaising with the Assistant Head (Pastoral), who is also the Head of Sixth Form, alongside the Heads of Departments to ensure that careers education and information is delivered through the curriculum. The Governing Body oversee the careers provision and an identified link governor will have particular focus on CEIAG. All parents and students in the school are involved, along with all staff, with the development of the policy and programmes in CEIAG.

Governor Responsibilities

The governing body will ensure that the School has a clear policy on Careers Education, Information and Guidance (CEIAG) and that this is clearly communicated to all stakeholders. They should ensure that this policy is:

- based on the eight Gatsby Benchmarks
- meeting the school's legal requirements

The governing body will ensure that arrangements are in place to allow a range of educational and training providers to access pupils in Senior School (see Provider Access Policy for details).

There will be a member of the governing body who takes a strategic interest in CEIAG and encourages employer engagement.

Additional Educational Needs

The Careers programme is designed to ensure it meets the needs of each student and every student gets a fully personalised individual programme. This individualised and tailored support is particularly valuable at key decision-making moments, such as GCSE Options, and Post 16 and 18 pathways, but is not limited to these.

Activities are differentiated and personalised to each student to ensure progression in their career learning and development, and to strengthen their motivation, aspirations and attainment at school. Individual support, information, advice and guidance is given to every student and, as such, can be tailored to meet individual needs.

Entitlement

Learners are entitled to CEIAG, Work-related Learning (WRL) and Enterprise Education, which meet professional standards of practice, are delivered by trained staff and are person-centred, impartial and confidential. Activities will be embedded in the curriculum and based on a partnership with learners and their parents/guardians. The programme will raise aspirations, challenge stereotyping and promote equality and diversity.

Statements of entitlement for careers education for the whole school and each year group, including a list of expected outcomes, outline the provision for every student.

Work experience

The aim of work experience is to provide an opportunity for all students to learn in the workplace; an experience that cannot be replicated at school. All 5th form and Upper Sixth students are encouraged to arrange work experience in July once they have finished their Examinations. Students are encouraged to take part in virtual work experience which can be equally valuable. This is not a compulsory part of the curriculum.

Assessment and evaluation of the careers programme

The whole school approach to CEIAG means that the views of all students, staff, parents and contributors are valued. The school employs a variety of assessment, review and evaluation procedures. Validation occurs on an occasional basis by completion of student questionnaires, and other appropriate methods. Parents are asked to comment on provision as are all contributors. These inform the development of programmes.

The policy and CEIAG provision is reviewed on an annual basis, or earlier, where necessary.

More detailed information concerning the nature of careers provision across different year groups can be found here.
